Business connectivity at the speed of light

IT Solutions for Business

How high are your hopes for business internet connectivity?

Probably higher than the speeds you're getting.

Does internet streaming seem little more than a disappointing trickle?

Does sending large files cause your email to falter and freeze?

Do you hear the toe tapping and finger drumming of frustration played out around the office?

We can make your online world so fast you'll barely have time to blink.

What does 100mbps mean to you?

A lightning-fast connection for your business. About 16 times faster than the average internet connection. So fast that even with all of your staff online you can transfer huge files with ease.

How does a 100Mb file in a few seconds sound? Or what about the contents of an entire CD in well under a minute?

It doesn't matter whether you're uploading or downloading as our service is symmetric providing 100Mbps in both directions, unlike conventional broadband.

Your remote users will also benefit from a quicker, smoother experience.

If the performance fails to excite you, the price certainly will.

Razorblue Metro Ethernet delivers phenomenal capacity & business-class reliability at a fraction of the cost of a leased line.

Instant access and super fast downloads aren't your only benefits.

No lengthy contracts: just a rolling monthly agreement.

A guaranteed four-hour fix if things go wrong – because we understand how damaging downtime can be.

600Gb of usage is included as standard with more available on demand.

Reliability, a well used word these days but so crucial. Our fibre optic cable runs right to your office door, eliminating all of the problems typically associated with copper cabling.

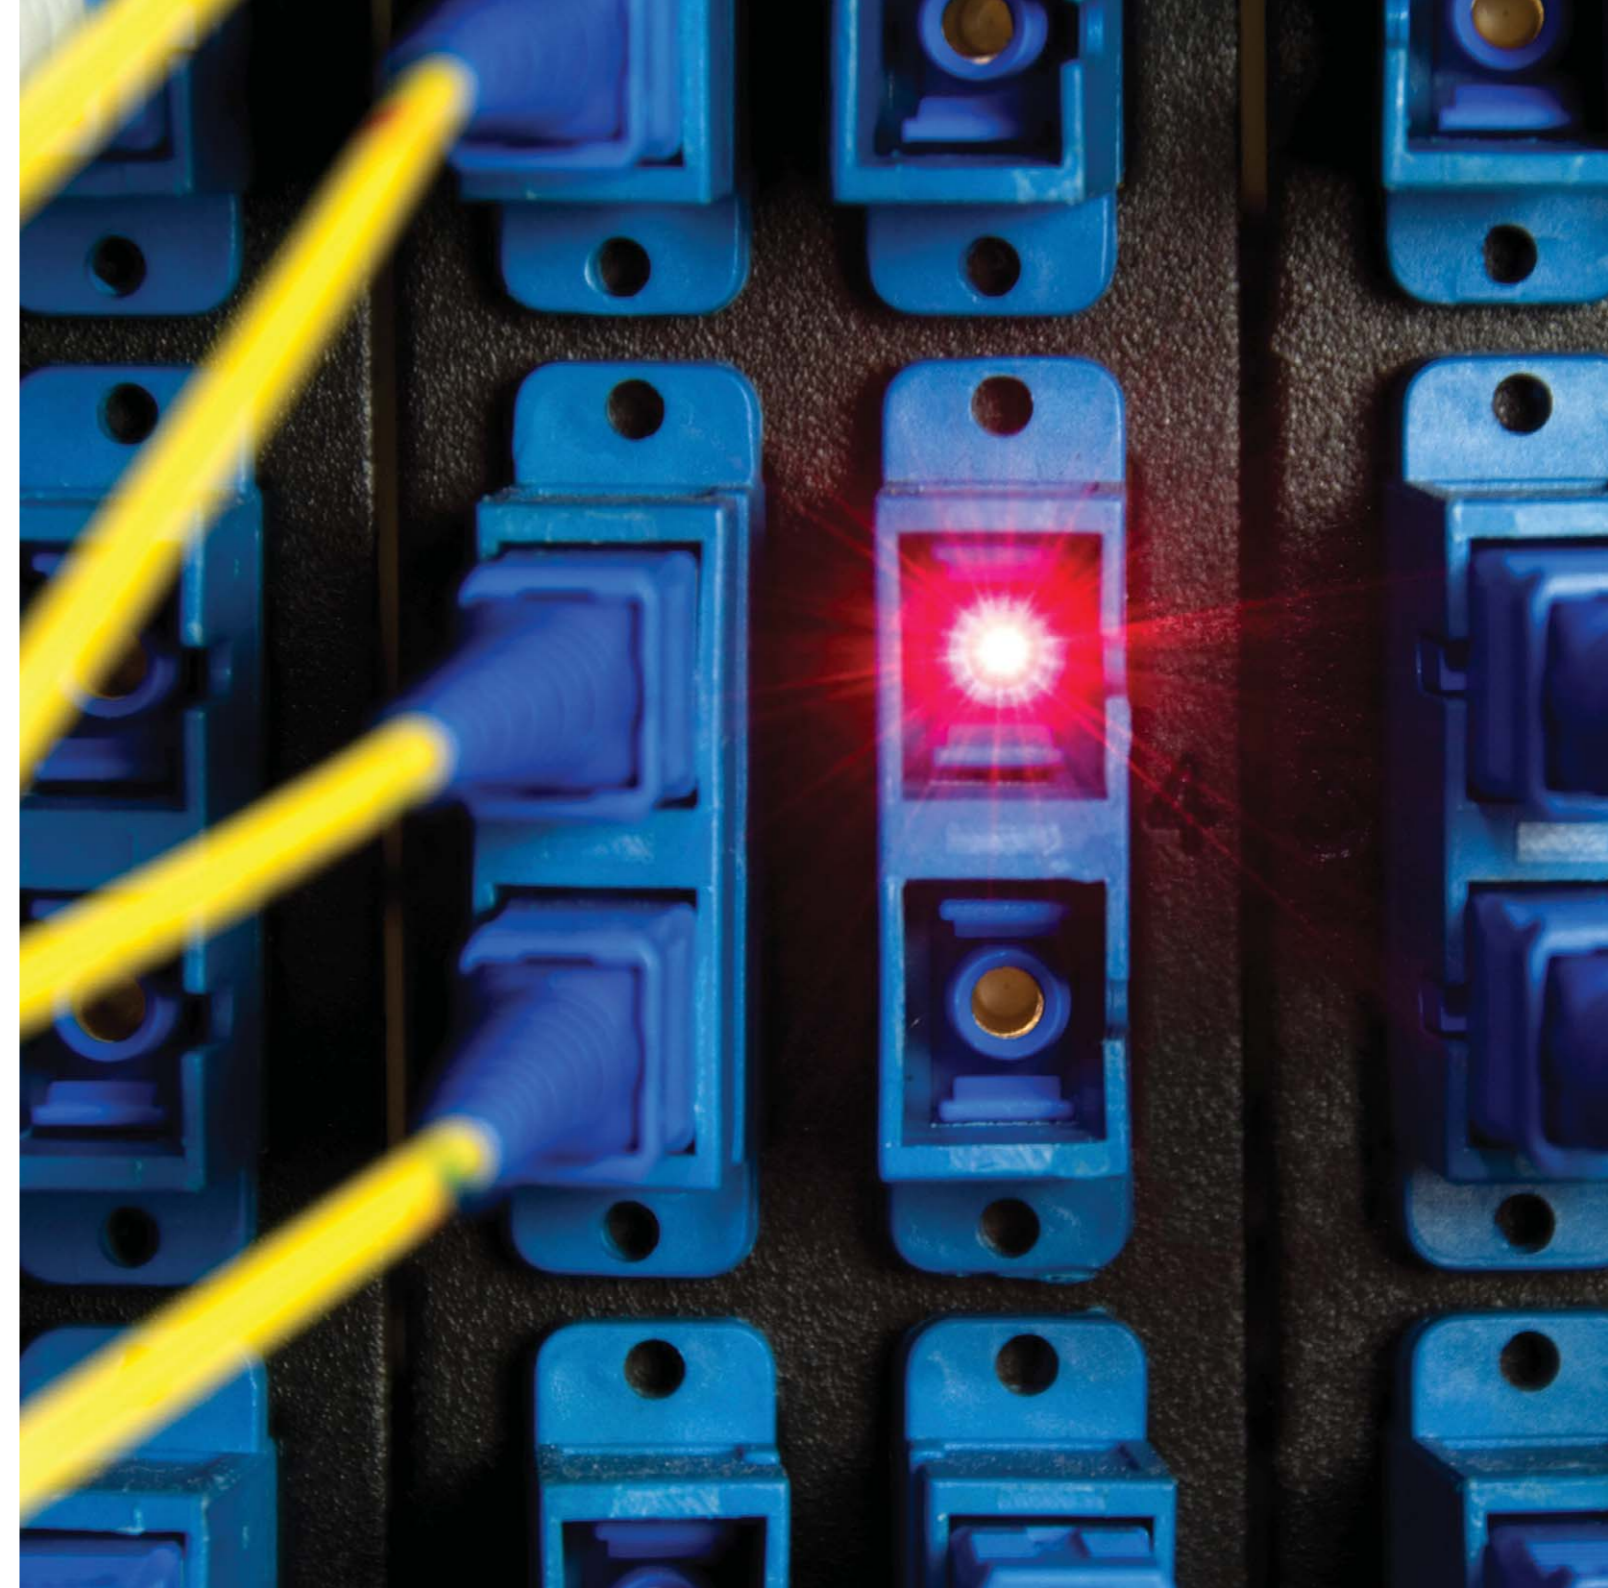

Set-up within a few hours. You'll just need to plug in. No hassles, no delays. It really is that easy.

What do we mean by plugging in?

We run fibre optic cabling into business parks, direct to your office. With the cable in place, the setup takes just a few hours, we can even set you up on the same day you call us.

You won't need to do a thing; our engineers will configure your internet access so every member of staff can just get on with their work.

And in the unlikely event something goes wrong further down the line, we'll have you back up and running within four hours, we'll compensate you too.

Take a look at how Razorblue Metro Ethernet stacks up against the competition.

You'll probably be reaching for the phone in a minute.
